

Consultation Group Agreement

Between:
[INSERT NAME] (the Facilitator)

and

Biblical Counselling UK

The Biblical Counselling UK Consultation Groups enable those in church leadership and pastoral ministry to gain case wisdom in biblical counselling and also to be trained to provide mentoring and/or supervision within their own church setting. This agreement sets out what is expected from Biblical Counselling UK, the Facilitator and the Participant.

FACILITATOR

1. Biblical Counselling UK is a training and facilitating organisation. Participants in a Biblical Counselling UK Consultation Group receive training and advice, not supervision. All matters of supervision, pastoral care and safeguarding, both for Participants and those with whom they meet, remain under the authority and direction of their local church leadership.
2. Consultation Group Facilitators will discuss cases and share case wisdom. They, and other Participants, may suggest how a Participant may want to help an individual, but this is intended to serve as helpful advice and not instruction. The responsibility for deciding what pastoral care to give rests with the Participant, under the direction of their local church leadership.
3. Any liability arising from the pastoral care Participants offer including any counselling style meetings remains the responsibility of the Participant and their local church leadership, not Biblical Counselling UK.
4. The primary purpose of the Consultation Group is facilitated discussion between Participants and the sharing of biblical wisdom relevant to each case discussed. Facilitators should therefore actively encourage Participants to engage in group discussion and prepare thoughtfully in advance any case information to be shared in the Consultation Group.
5. Facilitators must ensure that any information shared within the Consultation Group is presented in a way that includes relevant details but keeps personal information confidential. "Personal information" refers to information that may be used to determine the identity of those involved in the pastoral situation. This information includes, but is not limited to, the name of individuals receiving pastoral care, the name of other family members, home address, phone number, place of employment or other distinguishable life circumstances or historical events.
6. As Group Facilitator you agree to keep all cases discussed confidential. The only exceptions to this are if:
 - there are safeguarding concerns which the Facilitator needs to discuss with the Safeguarding Lead for Biblical Counselling UK;
 - there are safeguarding concerns that the Facilitator needs to share with relevant authorities, examples include a person under the age of 18 being abused or a perpetrator of abuse against children currently or historically or concerns about abuse against an adult at risk of harm or any other safeguarding concerns needing disclosure to appropriate statutory authorities;
 - there is a legal requirement to share information with statutory bodies, for example an identifiable individual has made specific threats to harm another named individual or individuals that seem genuine (eg an act of terrorism);
 - an identifiable individual has made statements of intention to end his or her life, in this case a disclosure may be made to an appropriate statutory organisation (e.g NHS provider) with the intention of the individual receiving an assessment from the statutory organisation to assess the risk to self;
 - legal requirements make it necessary to inform police regarding a plausible threat of terrorism;
 - other legal requirements of UK law require the Facilitator to share information with statutory authoritiesand in each case the Participant has not informed the appropriate authorities where legally bound to do so and/or not passed on this information to those in church leadership to whom they are accountable.

7. The Group Facilitator may on occasion seek the wisdom of another suitable person with training and experience in biblical counselling and consequently may share some details of cases discussed in the Consultation Group in order to obtain appropriate advice and biblical wisdom.
8. Biblical Counselling UK expects and requires Facilitators and Participants to take part in the Consultation Group in accordance with Biblical Counselling UK's Equality and Safeguarding policies.
9. If at any time a Facilitator needs to step back from serving within the local church, they must inform the BC UK Executive Director and simultaneously step back from the BC UK Facilitator role
10. Facilitators agree to provide 10 sessions of the Consultation Group which will normally take place over a period of 12 months and invoice BC UK for their time. The fee per session is £35. If a Facilitator is unable to host a meeting, for example due to illness, they agree either to arrange for one of the other Facilitators to substitute for them, or reschedule the Group Meeting.

BIBLICAL COUNSELLING UK

11. Biblical Counselling UK functions as the training and facilitating organisation and commits to providing a Consultation Group where a Facilitator with experience of the provision of biblical counsel will enable discussion and help Participants to think biblically about the situations being discussed.

12. Biblical Counselling UK agrees to pay Facilitators the fee of £___ per session (2021 rate).
13. Biblical Counselling UK is committed to keeping personal information safe. A detailed explanation of how personal information is collected, stored, and shared in accordance to the General Data Protection Regulation law is available in the Biblical Counselling UK privacy policy, available on the Biblical Counselling UK website. Facilitators' information will be stored by Biblical Counselling UK for the duration of their involvement in the Consultation Groups and for one year afterwards.
14. Biblical Counselling UK reserves the right to terminate the Consultation Group if the goals of the Consultation Group are not being met.
15. If the Facilitator of the Group has concerns about the conduct of a Participant or concerns about his/her character that suggest he/she may not be biblically qualified for the pastoral role he/she has, then the facilitator must discuss this with the Executive Director of Biblical Counselling UK and raise their concerns with the leadership of the Participant's church.

I have read and fully understand the information provided above about the criteria to facilitate a Consultation Group. I understand that if I breach this agreement I may be asked to leave the Group. By signing this document, I agree to accept the conditions outlined above.
